Red Cross Appeals For Funds

With Europe in a bad way, the Red Cross and the American Red Cross have been called upon to help. Their resources have almost been expended. Red Cross chapters all over the country have been called upon for funds. The SOS sign is out for the Red Cross and we know the American people are going to respond with their usual friendliness and generosity.

Clayton County Chapter's goal has been raised at $100. Miss C. G. Clippert is County chairman and is requesting that states strive to find quickly the money.

Following is a copy of a telegram received by Mrs. Clippert last week:

St. Louis, Mo.

May 10, 1940

Mrs. C. G. Clippert
Chairman, Clayton County
Chapter American Red Cross

With the invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg the war has entered a phase which will inevitably and at once bring widespread and appalling suffering to millions of helpless men, women and children. In order to inaugurate widespread relief measures, the American Red Cross is at once launching a campaign for a minimum war relief fund of ten million dollars. Your chapter quota is $100. Please at once mobilize the entire leadership of your chapter and community in order that your quota may be raised and exceeded without delay. Chapters may retain fifteen percent of collections to cover their local war relief expenses.

For the convenience of the public subscription blanks may be found at the following places:

Man's Best Friend!

We're not disputing that old traditional statement that "Man's best friend is his dog," but the telephone, with its many services in making social and business contacts and its past record of efficiency in every type of emergency, stands in the foreground of all man-made products as the best servant of society and business.

YOUR HOME needs a telephone. If you haven't one we can make immediate installation on short notice.

Fete Mothers At Reception

As a fitting tribute to the mothers of the Danish Evangelical church, the Junior Ladies Aid society of the church held a reception at Danebod hall Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. It was held in the auditorium where a large table was arranged for the occasion. Centering the table was a low bowl of spring flowers and at each place was a basket of mints for a favor, and each mother received a red or white carnation. Individual molds of ice cream with the inscription "Greetings to Mother" were served with cake.

Following refreshments a program suited to the occasion was given. It opened with the "Toast to Our Mothers" given in a lovely manner by Miss Elsa M. Sorrenson. "M-O-T-H-E-R" dedicated to the oldest mother in the congregation. Mrs. Rasmus Hansen, was sung by the group. Mrs. Dagmar SanCartier gave a recitation "My Day of Rest" and two musical readings were nicely given by Miss Emilie Stockholm. They were entitled "Snap the Oppressor" and "The Woodshed Blues". Miss Martha Johnson, school music teacher, with her high school sextette, were present and they beautifully sang "In a Green Cathedral" and "Wonderful Mother of Mine".

Miss Emilie Stockholm gave a reading "Mother of Men" and closing the program the mothers and daughters joined in singing "When You Come to the End of the Day". Miss Ingeborg Hanson was accompanist for the group singing numbers.

Unique programs were made by the members of the Aid with a floral decoration on the cover and the words "Mother's Day". Indeed it was a grand Mother's day for those present and the young ladies are to be commended on the beautiful affair they had given in their honor. Many mothers' hearts were gladdened on being guests at the lovely party.

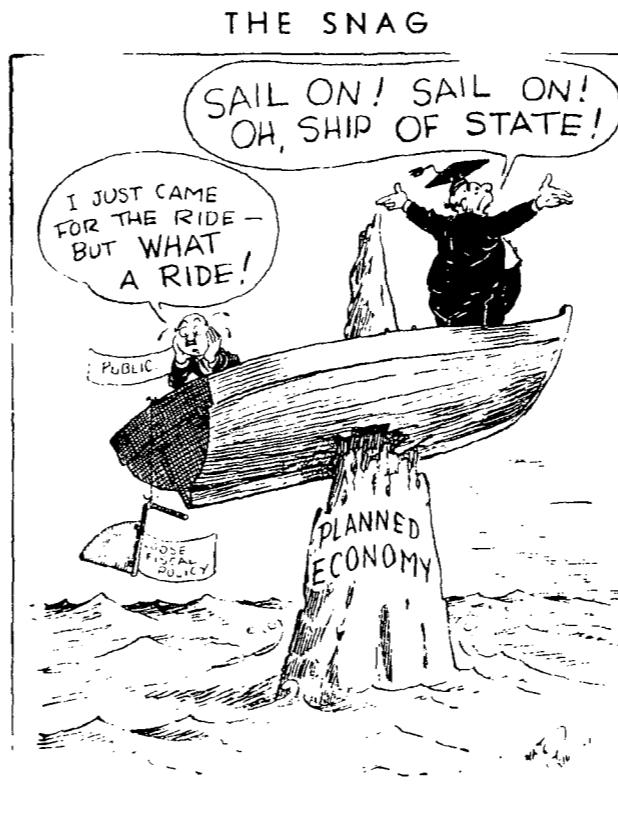

Grayling High Wins One, Loses One

Grayling High broke even in their two games of last week. They defeated a strong team from Kalkaska by a score of 7 to 2. Pat Kulka pitched a very good game, allowing only 5 hits. Spencer pitched for Kasky, allowing 10 hits. It was a very fast game to watch. Several good fielding plays were made by Grayling.

On Saturday the team went to Alpena to play. They were defeated, however, by a score of 11 to 2. Hanner pitched for Alpena, allowing but one hit, which was made by Clark. Anthony pitched for the locals, allowing 12 hits.

For the first three innings the game was very close, but starting the fourth Alpena's Thunderbolts got the range and started banging out some long hits. From there on it was a walk-away. Bad fielding was one of the reasons the locals were so outclassed. It was the first time in three years that the score was over two points apart.

Grayling goes to Gaylord today (Thursday) to try and even up the series. Gaylord won here earlier in the season in ten innings by a score of 2 to 1.

Grayling Winter Sports Ass'n, Grayling, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

As per my telegram last night, the Conservation Commission met yesterday and voted the necessary $19,000.00 to complete the Winter Sports program at Grayling. This meets the Federal appropriation of $312,000.00 for the 1939, 1940 and 1941 program for the following purposes:

Water, sanitation, toboggan slides, electricity to the toboggan house, conveyor, ski jump, skating rink, public service building, storage building and inter-park telephone.

To be sure that the appropriation was made, I appeared before the Commission on Thursday of this week when the meeting met in informal session to discuss the whole program and presented your case and yesterday afternoon the Commission called me and said the appropriation had been made by the unanimous vote of the Commission.

This carries out and verifies the statement I made before the Kiwanis Club on the 24th of April and should allay any fear by the people of Grayling that this Winter Sports program would not be carried out.

Yours truly,
Miles M. Callaghan.

The Old BACKWOODS PHILOSOPHER Says:

It's queer how th' state allows th' destruction uv some things that've made it great. Take virgin timber, fer instance. When I was a young feller th' part uv th' state I live in was solid timber fer miles in ev'ry direction, with hardwoods on th' higher an' better soils, an' th' white pines that made Michigan famous folerin' th' streams an' on th' lower flats. A grand an' impressive sight it was, in th' hardwoods as well as in th' pines; somethin' th' younger generation uv t'day has missed.

In th' heart uv th' forest th' tall mammoth trunks uv these primitive giants reached t' th' high ceelin' uv foliage that all but shut out th' light uv day, an' underneath was th' carpet uv millions uv ferns that contributed t' impression that this was God's own cathedral. A cathedral that was destined t' be demolished by th' hand uv man.

Tree by tree, acre by acre an' section by section th' Davy Wards, th' Hansons an' th' Narcisse Vieaus cut th' pines an' fed them t' th' hungry maws uv th' mills, with little er no provision made fer future growth. Under th' hands uv th' Stearns, th' Sands an' other enterprisin' lumbermen th' hardwoods went th' way uv all good lumber. UV course, in many ways, them was th' good old days; days uv good livin' even if it was rough in spots. Sometimes I think one uv th' greatest contributions uv them times t' th' present was th' romance an' rich lore up th' lumberjack that somehow has survived th' ravages uv time.

A few days ago my old crony, Hank Sanderson, had some business over west uv here an' I went along. We went through t' biggest stand uv virgin hardwood timber that's left in Michigan south uv the Straits. It was sure a sight fer lonesome eyes. Not much uv it, t' be sure, by old standards; somethin' less than three thousand acres. Th' saddest part uv it is that it's bein' cut an', as th' young fellers uv t'day say, "an' how!"

Nary a road monkey, nary a pair uv big wheels or a horse jammer did I see! They was rippin' through that timber with tractors, with motor trucks an' worst uv all—a motor jammer was loadin' th' trucks! Shaded uv Paul Bunyan! Th' road monkey was a steel drag snaked along th' woods roads by a Diesel tractor! Another tractor was skiddin' th' logs with a little help from a couple uv teams in th' hard places. Flittin' about from one place t' another like a durn muskeeter, th' motor jammer, under th' guidin' hand uv a feller they called Mel, mebby was efficient enough but it was pure

T' am old timer like me all this was quite a shock, but Hank nearly had t' hold me steady when I saw a Department of Conservation sign on a big maple backuv th' camp readin', 'SAVE OUR FORESTS!' Why CAN'T we save what little is left?

FOR SPRING WEAR

WHY does a chicken cross th' road? Ask any feller that's had a garden he can tell you. I know my garden wuz a success last year cause my neighbors chickens took first prize at th' poultry show. My neighbor sez he's goin' t' start a truck farm this year. He can't kid me I ain't that green, you don't raise trucks, they come from a factory. Had a letter from Ma yesterday an' she sez Pa aint started th' spring plowin' yet cause th' bad weather's putt him three weeks behind with his spring fishin'. Talkin' about gardens, many a little boy has been spanked while tryin' t' help Pa plant a garden, a few years later that same boy could use dem good thrashin' while sewin' his wild oats. Lots o' fathers have said, "It takes a lot o' son light ever day t' raise a garden." But they forgot t' tell th' son they used a lot o' electric light after dark t' cultivate ther crop o' wild oats. I'm goin' to the wagon boys—these shoes are killin' me. —Whitey Ford, Duke of Paducah.

Engineers Seek Ways to Build "Solid" Foundations

Tests with the object of constructing buildings that will not settle are being conducted under the auspices of the Engineering foundation.

Prof. Gregory P. Tschebotareff of Princeton university, who is heading a part of the studies, said buildings constructed on rock—such as in New York—do not present a problem to engineers.

"But not to all cities," he said "are equally fortunate to have in many places rock within easy reach from the ground surface."

He cited Shanghai, New Orleans and Mexico City as examples where soft soil deposits handicap the engineer.

"Rock lies at such depths," he said, "that it cannot be reached by any known foundation method. In such cases, considerable settlements become unavoidable. In Shanghai, one-foot settlement is considered quite normal for buildings founded on piles driven into the river mud."

In Mexico City, which holds the world championship for the most difficult foundation and soil conditions—soft mud 600 feet deep—heavy buildings resting on concrete rafts floating on the surface of that mud have been known to sink about nine feet into the ground."

Tschebotareff said there were "innumerable soils" which would settle under pressure and said the "extent and manner" of yielding varied greatly.

"For instance, when a sand layer supports a load and when no trenches have been dug nearby which would permit its lateral yielding," he said, "the sand would only be slightly compressed in itself. This compression would occur in the early stage of construction."

"A clay layer saturated with water would behave quite differently under similar conditions. The water filling the voids of the clay would be expelled from them only gradually due to the fine-grained and therefore impermeable nature of the type of soil."

"As a result the often considerable compression of such a clay layer would proceed very slowly. Structures erected on thick clay deposits have been known to settle for many years, the rate of subsidence slowing down little by little."

New Discovery May Aid in Ageing Liquor

Discovery of a "chemical dice game" may lead to improvements in the ageing of wines and liquors, the American Chemical society was told recently.

Dr. George Calingaert, of Detroit, chemical research director of the Ethyl Gasoline corporation, also reported that other new fields in organic chemistry would be opened by his findings which show that, contrary to past experience, organic compounds of the same class will react with one another through use of proper catalysts.

Quantities of the products formed, he said, are determined by the same mathematical laws of chance which enable gamblers to foretell odds in a dice game. He explained that when a pair of dice is thrown many times, the number seven will appear twice as often as the number ten, and three times as often as eleven or three.

Dr. Calingaert reported that the atoms "fall" into position in the same random way and that the discovery "all but shakes the foundations of our concepts of the behavior of atoms in molecules."

Such a reaction may hold the key to some processes known to take place, but for which no satisfactory explanation has been advanced, he said.

"It is well known that some chemical process occurs after barrelling or bottling (of liquor), the result of which is readily detected by taste."

The action occurs though the materials present are chemically inert to one another and Calingaert predicted that a better understanding of this ageing process will lead to improvement in wines and liquors.

Scientists Find Locusts

Are of 2 Distinct Kinds

There are two races of the periodical cicada—the seventeen-year race and another that appears every 13 years. Scientists have found no differences in the two except that one remains underground in the larva sand pupa stages four years longer than the other.

Every year is locust year in some part of the country. There are 17 different broods of the 17 year race and thirteen broods of the 13 year race, writes a correspondent in the Chicago Tribune. The broods have been catalogued by Roman numbers. Broods Nos. 1 to 17 compose the 17-year race. The 13-year race is numbered from 18 to 30.

There is overlapping of the territories occupied by the two races and also by the different broods. In some sections, however, the locusts only appear at 13 or 17-year intervals, indicating the presence of only one brood.

The periodical cicadas are not found in the western part of the United States. They live mainly in the wooded regions from the Atlantic coast westward to central Kansas.

Tom Thumb's Life

Tom Thumb (Charles Sherwood Stratton) was born at Bridgeport, Conn., on January 4, 1838. His parents were of normal size and he showed no peculiarity until he reached the age of seven months, when he ceased to grow. In 1842 his mother took him to P. T. Barnum. At that time he was 28 inches in height and weighed a little more than 15 pounds, though he later increased in size. He was perfectly proportioned, active, and intelligent. His exhibitions proved a great success and in 1854 he was taken to England by Barnum and presented to the queen and royal family. In 1863 Tom Thumb married Lavinia Warren, a dwarf, and together they traveled widely and gave exhibitions. He died at Middleborough, Mass., on July 15, 1883.

Ability to Learn

Walter B. Pitkin, in "The Art of Learning" says: "Between the ages of 22 and 40, the ability to learn a systematically logically organized subject, such as a foreign language, mathematics, or any natural science, declines no more than 1 per cent year. A man aged 42 lags only 20 per cent behind a 20-year older. To this conclusion Thordike and his associates came as a result of their prolonged experiments in teaching adults Esperanto. But they also find that the older people make up for this slowing down by more mature backgrounds which aid them in thorough comprehension."

Sealed Tomb

The parishioners of Christ church at Cambridge, Mass., were surprised to learn that there is a sealed tomb in the basement of the church. The WPA historical records survey reports that the tomb was built soon after the completion of the church in 1759. Ten bodies were placed there, including that of one of the builders, Henry Vassall, before the city ordered the tomb closed in 1865.

Flag Protection Law

There is but one federal statute which protects the flag from desecration throughout the country. This law, 38 Stat. L. p. 725, February 20, 1905, provides that a trademark cannot be registered which consists of, or comprises, among other things, "the flag, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States, or any simulation thereof."

Winners in Ford Nickname Contest

Winners in the Final Ford Dealers' $1,000 Used Car Nickname Contest which closed Saturday, May 4, were announced today by George Burke.

They are: Lon Retherford, Lapeer, Mich. (Winning Nickname: "My Delux-ry"); Robert W. Thrush, Radnor, Ohio, (Winning Nickname: "Domin-8-R"); Blair Rose, Hoyne St., Cadillac, Mich. (Winning nickname: "Hill-Leveler"). Edward S. Wilkowski, Hubbell, Mich. (Winning nickname: "Well Fordified"). Harry Budde, 998 E. Forest Ave., Muskegon, Mich. (Winning nickname: "My Silent Partner"). Mrs. Ruby Warner, Clinton, Mich. (Winning nickname: "Heart's Desire"). Ed Henry, Box 107, Lowell, Mich. (Winning nickname: "Suits Me"). Karl W. Patterson, 1346 Grand Ave., Toledo, Ohio. (Winning nickname: "E-Z To A Ford"). W. B. Campbell, 19618 West Warren Ave., Detroit. (Winning nickname: "Ima-Gem"). Howard S. Morrow, 1612 Alcott Ave., Kalamazoo, Mich. (Winning nickname: "Life Begins in Fordy").

Every winner was awarded $100 in cash," said Mr. Burke. "In all, $4,000 was distributed by Ford dealers during the Nickname Contests. This investment was well worth while, if for no other reason than that it brought home to thousands of people that Ford dealers really do have exceptional used car bargains, due to the fact that the popularity of Ford-built cars is bringing in a regular flow of high-grade trade-ins of all makes. It is only natural, however, that a high percentage of these used cars are Fords; the loyalty of Ford owners is proverbial. Because of the unusual stamina of Ford-built cars, regardless of model year, we feel that used Fords, even if they date from Model T days, represent as much sheer value for the money as it is possible for a used car buyer to get."

"ADVERTISING DOESN'T

WITH every belligerent country in Europe, with exception of Germany, calling for aid by the American Red Cross, Americans again are springing into action to aid in relief of those injured by the war carnage being laid down by the German armies. This is the second time Americans have been called upon to aid in binding up the wounds caused by German armies. The terror and destruction that is being laid down upon peaceful nations, upon peaceful people, is the most horrible the world has ever known. Germany's chief industry and ambition is building huge armies. Denmark, Holland, Norway, Finland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Poland and other countries have been happy in building up strong, sturdy, industrious Christian nations. Germany is tearing them down. The present situation is appalling! How much longer must civilization endure the present carnage? Surely it seems that in due time the people of these subdued nations must arise and annihilate this monster Hitler and his group of murderers. The world cannot endure half peaceful and half murderous. The present German rulers must be stamped out. We believe they will be, but in the meantime blood flows like water in Europe. We here in America cannot conceive of the horror millions of innocent people in Europe have to endure. The Red Cross is doing their usual good job in relief work. It seems that we feel better if we personally can do something toward helping these innocent war sufferers. If the Red Cross offers a way, let's open our purses. Mrs. Clippert is chairman of the County Red Cross Chapter.

The Weather

The weather this week has been very changeable, one day the sun shines and the thermometer rises and the next day it's raining and has turned cold. Monday at 6 a.m., the mercury stood at 37 degrees and by noon had gone up to 74 degrees, the coldest and warmest day of this week. Since Tuesday it has been raining off and on during the day. This morning the thermometer registered 40 degrees and skies are clouded.

Is Denmark Finished?

(By Floyd J. Miller, in Royal Oak Tribune)

In the flurry of recent developments in Holland, Belgium and France, the news of the day has completely overlooked sturdy little Denmark. What is happening there?

During a recent trip out of town, I had a chance to talk with an American citizen who was born in Denmark, whose family still lives there, and who has kept in close touch with the situation. He had not received a single letter or newspaper from Denmark since the Germans marched in. His only reports to be obtained from the limited news stories coming out of that country.

We got into a conversation after he learned that I had seen the beginning of the war in England.

Nothing I have ever read about Denmark or the other Scandinavian countries painted for me so graphic a picture of their desperate situation for years as did our discussion. I was able to see, as never before, how Denmark in particular has trembled for many years under the shadow of German might. All during the hectic years of the first World War, this tiny nation lived a strained existence as it tried desperately to remain neutral. No one knew from day to day whether Germany would invade it as ruthlessly as it had Belgium or whether the British would push in from the north in order to get at Germany's flank. Not until the Armistice could the citizens of this small land draw a free breath.

His Opinions of Germans

In the years immediately following, the Danes not only saw the German menace temporarily removed; they also received back the territory of Schleswig-Holstein, which Germany had seized earlier. Peace and quiet rested on the land once again.

But as Germany arose once more under Hitler and prepared its campaign of aggression, little Denmark was put once more on the anxious seat. If you will look at its geographical position, you will understand why. For Denmark is entirely surrounded by water except where it touches Germany. Its capital, Copenhagen, is one island and considerable of its territory and population is on others. Even the main peninsula, which juts out toward the North Sea, is so narrow that (my friend told me) no point is more than twenty miles from water. It is all flat. How can a country like that be defended?

The testimony of my acquaintance as to the willful aggression of Germany was very disturbing. Not that it was completely new. For, unfortunately, the evidence today seems even more conclusive than it was during the World War. But let my friend tell it.

An Arrogant Spirit

"Both before and after the World War, when I lived in Denmark," he said, "I made many bicycle trips with other young men into Germany. An outing of this sort down the Rhine was very popular. Sometimes, particularly after the War, we were at first treated with some reserve. But as soon as the Germans learned we were Danes and not English, they treated us very nicely.

"I always noticed this one thing though. Even Prussians, whom we met and frequently became well acquainted with, were the friendliest people in the world; courteous and easy to get along with. That is, if you met them as individuals. But let three or four Germans get together and a different spirit was evident.

"They seemed immediately to become conscious of the fact that they were Germans and to fairly radiate the feeling that they were a superior people. Danes or anyone else were made to feel this. It was made evident to us that anyone should consider himself fortunate if he were able to become a part of the German nation.

"This feeling has not developed just since Hitler came into power. It was there before 1914. It was not so evident immediately after the World War, for Germany was pretty well put down. It did not take very long though, for it to be resurrected. It was not merely the leaders, the ambitious ones, who showed this feeling. The workers, the farmers with whom I came in contact on my trips evidenced this. 'Just wait. We'll get back at them,' they said.

"Hitler is not the main cause of this. He is merely the head man, who exemplifies the spirit of the nation. To be sure, he is more aggressive, more ruthless than anyone previously has been; but he can do these things only because the whole people permit it. He is exactly the kind of leader to capitalize on the spirit that has ruled the German people ever since I have known any of them."

This viewpoint struck me more forcibly because my Danish friend was not bitter or vehement in his opinions. He has lived in this country for a number of years, has his business here, expects to remain in America. The present occupation of Denmark has not upset his daily routine or interfered with his livelihood. It has merely brought to an end the freedom which his people have cherished many, many years.

Denmark is an ancient country. Since 900 A.D.—a thousand years ago—it has been free, except for one relatively brief period when it was held by Sweden. Freedom has been the heritage of the Danes for generation after generation. What will happen to it now is merely one more of the enigmas of Europe's present turmoil.

William J. Weiss Passed Away

William J. Weiss, well known resident of Grayling passed away at his home at 11:15 o'clock Wednesday forenoon following a lingering illness. For the past three weeks Mr. Weiss had been very feeble and he had spent most of the time in bed. At his bedside when he passed away were his wife, his brother George Weiss, and a friend Clyde Compau, of Saginaw who had come to spend the day with him.

Besides his widow the deceased is survived by eight children, four grandchildren, six sisters and three brothers. Funeral services will be held at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the A. J. Sorenson Funeral home. The Reverend Fr. James Moloney of St. Mary's church will officiate. Interment will be in the Grayling cemetery.

Mr. Weiss and son James operated the Gulf Gas station across from the golf course on U.S. 27.

Tebbetts Retires from Winter Sports Post At Grayling

(From The Bay City Times) George "Birdie" Tebbetts, colorful Detroit Tiger catcher, announced he would retire as publicity director for Grayling's Winter Sports Inc., Monday.

Acting as publicity director for the Grayling winter sports plant for the past two years, the Graylingites had claimed "Birdie" as one of their own and all were proud of his success as a big league ball player. This year's winter carnival was one of the most successful in the history of the Grayling layout and was due, in no small part, to Tebbetts' splendid work. Up until his announcement it had been expected at Grayling that Tebbetts would return to the Grayling post next winter.

In his statement Tebbetts said "There is too much work and I think it takes something away from my baseball. After all I depend on baseball for a livelihood. I may change my mind later and go back to Grayling. In fact, I think I will spend several months in Grayling whether I work there or not. That snow country sort of gets one. It does something to you."

NOTE—Tebbetts' resignation has not been received by any of the officials of Grayling Winter Sports, Inc., and the above article was news to them. According to one of the local officials it sounds incredulous for Tebbetts has already signed a contract to work for Grayling next winter.

The seventh grade pried the lid off the picnic season Monday, May 6, with a weenie roast at Beaver Island. Starting from the school about thirty-five strong, short work was made of the trip down river and soon a number of fires furnished the roasting place for the material which did its part in satisfying the inner man. The only sad part of the performance was furnished by the finding of a deer which had died very recently. Like the true sportsmen they were, a trip was made back to town to notify the Conservation Department and the carcass was removed after the officers had pronounced death due to starvation. After the excitement had died down some of the gang took turns piloting a nearby boat up and down the river and finally all joined in playing games until the time came to go back to town. An excellent time was had by all and plans are under way to repeat the trip in the near future.

After a great deal of argument pro and con the Seniors have decided to repeat the trip made by last year's Seniors on their skip day and visit the Tahquamenon falls in the upper peninsula. May 17th is the day and bright and early the class will start on their journey which will not be ended until late that night. This trip, which annually draws many thousands of visitors includes a boat trip of several hours as it is impossible to drive to the falls by auto.

In his statement Tebbetts said "There is too much work and I think it takes something away from my baseball. After all I depend on baseball for a livelihood. I may change my mind later and go back to Grayling. In fact, I think I will spend several months in Grayling whether I work there or not. That snow country sort of gets one. NOTE—Tebbetts' resignation has not been received by any of the officials of Grayling Winter Sports, Inc., and the above article was news to them. According to one of the local officials it sounds incredulous for Tebbetts has already signed a contract to work for Grayling next winter.

Judy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sorenson, gave her parents quite a scare Saturday. At noon when Mrs. Sorenson went in to see if Judy was awake from her nap, she found her lying on the bed in a coma. She picked her up and drove to the hospital where first aid was given the little tot and she was left in the hospital until Monday. It was thought that the cause of the convulsion came from Judy cutting her teeth and possibly stomach trouble.

Sunday had a double significance for Mrs. Adam Gierke for besides being Mother's Day, it was also her birthday. Her children, except for her son Frank of Manistique, were all at the family home for the day. There was a sumptuous dinner and during the afternoon friends called to extend felicitations. Mr. and Mrs. Einer Rasmussen and daughter Karen of Marlette, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jeambert and daughter Joyce of Detroit, and Earl Clarke of Saginaw were here for the occasion.

While Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Heribson were spending the week end in Bay City their automobile was stolen from in front of the latter's old home. They had gone out to dinner with some friends and when they returned it was gone, having been driven away between 9 and 11 o'clock. However it was recovered according to word received Tuesday from officials in Bay City. Someone had evidently just taken themselves for a ride for it was found several blocks away from the home. Mrs. Heribson and Robert left by rail Tuesday to drive the car home. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Heribson home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Kanzler and Miss Onita Campau.

SCOTCHMAN'S VERSION

A patriotic Scotchman was present at meeting of a certain society, at which an eminent Shakespearean scholar dwelt on the virtues of the bard. At the close of the meeting the Scot approached the lecturer, and the following dialogue ensued:

"Ye think a fine lot o' Shakespeare, doctor?"

"I do, sir."

"An' ye think he was mair clever than Rabbie Burns?"

"Why, there is no comparison!"

"Maybe no, but ye tell us tonicht it was Shakspere who wrote 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a croon.' Now, Rabbie would ne'er ha' written sic nonsense as that."

"Nonsense, sir?"

"Aye, just nonsense. Rabbie would ha' kent that a king, or a bed-queen, either, dinna gang to bed wi' the croon on his head. He wad hang it o'er th' back o' a chair."

BUSY EXPERT

"Who's that chap in your office who always has his feet on the desk and seems to do nothing?"

"Oh, that's our efficiency expert busily thinking of ways of keeping the men at work."

NOT SO BAD

Bill, a fireman, was with his mates, helping to put out a fire one blazing hot afternoon.

For six hours the brigade was toiling, the perspiration streaming down their grimy faces. At last one of them gasped: "Lummy, Bill, this is the limit, this is."

"Don't you believe it, George," replied the perspiring Bill reprovingly. "You just be thankful we ain't got to put this here blinking fire out with boiling water."

WHO FOR?

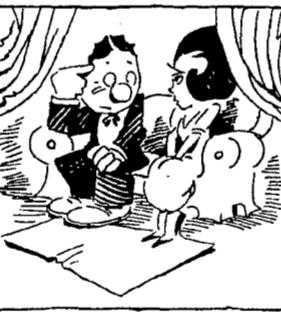

Father was losing his temper with his son, who, it appeared, was quite incapable of learning anything.

One day, when the lad was even more than usually stupid, his father sent him round to the local druggist for some common sense.

The boy took the quarter, and, just as he got to the door, turned to his father:

"Shall I say it's for you, dad?" he asked.

WE'D SAY NO

He—Sweetheart, two can live as cheaply as one.

She—But, dearest, can they do anything else?

Where is it wise to cut costs in your new home and where is it wise to buy the best? This is a problem that most home builders face more than once during construction. And what is the answer? It is a problem that every home owner must settle to the best of his ability with the help of his contractor and architect.

Replacement Big Factor

There is one general principle that can be set down here, however. Briefly, it is this. Any part of your house that it is not practical to replace should have the best in construction and materials. By this, we mean such items as footings and foundation, timber skeleton and frame work, windows and window frames, which are really part of the house frame, concealed ducts and wiring. All these things must last the life of the house.

Wiser to Wait

It is wiser to wait for some of the attractive furnishings and fixtures until more money is available, rather than to skimp on fundamental parts of a house which will only mean costly repairs, excessive heating bills and disgust and discomfort in years to come. Remember: if you can't replace them, make them good.

DRAFTY WINDOWS—Result of poor fitting and cheap construction. A few dollars extra spent for precision built windows and frames would save enough in fuel costs to pay for slight extra cost.

Spanish Main's Location Was Puzzle to Travelers

The exact location of the Spanish Main long puzzled travelers and writers. Some applied the name to the entire Caribbean, others thought it designated the mainland bordering that sea.

In the heyday of the conquistadores and pirates, the old Spanish Main comprised not only the Caribbean sea, but that part of the Atlantic ocean pried by Spanish treasure ships.

The name later came to embrace the shores of the Caribbean islands and the adjacent coasts of South and Central America.

Now the name has narrowed down to denote the northern coast of South America between the Isthmus of Panama and the delta of the Orinoco river, thus including the coasts of Panama, Colombia and Venezuela.

Uromantic freighters replace the old gilded galleons, but precious cargoes are still shipped from the Spanish Main.

Venezuela is the third largest oil-producing country in the world.

Colombia contains the world's most important emerald mine.

Exports from the main include platinum, gold, silver, Panama hats, coffee, chicle, tonka beans, ivory nuts, which are made in many articles from umbrella handles to buttons, and kapok, a so-called "vegetable down" used as stuffing for upholstery.

An interesting relic of the old days is the Bluebeard Castle at St. Thomas, now called Charlotte Amalie. It is a three-story fortress and is now the centerpiece of a new hotel. It is a gaunt structure and popular with visitors during the daytime. At night people prefer to stand outside and gaze at it.

The rugged old fort is made awesome by the tradition that the original owner, a pirate who was nicknamed Bluebeard because of the bluish sheen on his black whiskers, had a full set of 18 wives.

North Carolina Church Is Restoring Old Port

Restoration of the quaint old seaport of Bath, N. C., is giving to modern America the haunts of Blackbeard the pirate, a church attended by early American colonists and homes built more than two centuries ago.

Plans for restoring the historical village are being pushed by the Episcopal leaders of the East Carolina diocese. Their interest springs from the Bath Episcopal church, built in 1834, and recognized as the oldest church building in the state today.

Called "The Cathedral" because it is ruled by the bishop, the building still is in excellent condition with original hand-made doors and hand-cut wooden pews. It is to be restored and converted into a national shrine.

A museum will be opened near the church and the old Marsh house near by, built in 1714, will be converted into a rectory.

Of great interest are the ruins of an old house near Bath creek where Edward Teach—"Blackbeard the pirate"—is said to have lived during his days of power. Ruins of his ships may be seen there at low tide.

Bath has grown little since it was settled by white men about 1690.

POUCH PHENOMENON

The phenomenon of a pouch in which the female carries her young after they are born is peculiar to the group of mammals known as the marsupials. With the exception of the common opossum in the United States and a close relative in tropical America, all the members of this group are confined to Australasia. Besides the kangaroo, the most familiar member, the group includes the wallaby, several species of wallaby, the wombat, the koala, the Tasmanian wolf and the Tasmanian devil.

THREE LONGEST RIVERS

The three longest rivers in the United States are the Missouri, 2,476 miles from the junction of the Jefferson, Madison and Gallatin in Madison county, Mont., to the Mississippi; the Mississippi, 2,470 miles from Lake Itasca, Minn., to Head of Passes in the delta, and the Rio Grande, 1,800 miles from San Juan county, Colo., to the Gulf of Mexico. The Mississippi-Missouri is 3,988 miles long.

CAPTURED FORT

Gen. Smedley D. Butler was given the Congressional Medal of Honor from the United States and the Haitian Military medal for the capture of Fort Riviere in Haiti in 1915. The citation said that Fort Riviere was the headquarters of all the Cacos bands in northern Haiti and was supposed to be impregnable. General Butler with 23 men entered the fort and captured it.

MALAYAN TAGALOG

A Tagalog is a member of a tribe of Malayan origin in Luzon province, Philippine Islands. They are Christians, second in number of population and cultural leaders among native Philippine peoples. Before the Spaniards came, they had an alphabet of their own and an extensive civilization. The name Tagalog is also applied to the language of the tribe.

School Gave Two Grand Exhibitions

Tuesday night of last week the kindergarten, taught by Miss Tapio, the first grade by Miss Anderson and the second grade by Miss LaFave, did themselves proud in the May festival in the school gymnasium. If ever there were a group of children well trained, these were. From the time the program began until it ended the crowd was captivated with the cleverness of the little tots in their dances, drills and songs. Those in charge are to be congratulated upon the excellency of the program.

Wednesday night another well pleased crowd left the school auditorium after listening to a well rendered concert that was given by the school band under the direction of Mr. Rowland, and the Glee clubs directed by Miss Johnson. There are a lot of music lovers in Grayling who would not miss a musical program given by the school as those who take part are always so well trained, much to the credit of their directors. The concert Wednesday night was great.

After the concert Mr. Ivon Price, scout executive of Midland, held a court of honor, presenting awards and certificates to Boy Scouts who have won scouting honors in the various classes.

COMPOSITE PHOTOGRAPHY

There probably were earlier experiments of composite and trick photography, but the most notable examples appeared after the assassination of President Lincoln. There was a great demand for his pictures, but there was none showing him in the heroic postures which the American people wanted. Earlier statesmen had been painted in such poses. So photographers took pictures of the posed, draped figures of such men as John C. Calhoun and Henry Clay and superimposed the head of Lincoln. Currier & Ives had issued a lithograph showing Lincoln's deathbed scene with Vice President Andrew Johnson present. Afterward, when Johnson became unpopular and was impeached, the head of General Halleck was substituted for Johnson's.

THREE-MILE LIMIT

The idea of a three-mile limit of jurisdiction off the coast was first set down by Hugo Grotius, a brilliant Dutch lawyer, in 1608, in his "Mare Liberum," wherein he observed that the sovereignty and jurisdiction of any state extended as far over the marginal seas "as those who sail in that part of the sea can be compelled from the shore as if they were on land." A little later Cornelius van Bynkershoek, a judge of the supreme court of appeal of Holland, in his "De Dominio Maris Dissertation," Caput II, pages 364, 365, expressed Grotius' idea by saying that the control of the land over the sea extends as far as cannon will carry and that the control from the land ends where the power of men's weapons ends.

NO FINNISH SLUMS

Helsinki, Finland, has no slums. Bankers and factory workers own their own apartments under the cooperative system, which also insures the bread-winner so that his widow can continue in the home after his death.
